Release and whitelist

- select [x] message(s) you want to deal with
- select appropriate Action:
 - Release - release selected messages (allow delivery)
 - Release and Add to Safelist - whitelist sender (From) so next time email might not fall into quarantine
 - Delete - delete message from quarantine, if it is true SPAM.

The screenshot shows a web-based interface for managing spam messages. At the top, there is a header with the Cisco logo and the text "Spam Quarantine". Below this, a "Quick Search" bar contains a search input field and buttons for "Search" and "Advanced Search". The main area is titled "Messages" and displays a table with one item. The table columns are "Select Action...", "From", "Subject", "Date", and "Size". The single message listed is from "Lucas Mccarty" with the subject "[SPAM] comfortable sitting", dated 04 Jun 2021 16:47 (GMT +02:00), and a size of 5.7K. A red arrow points to the "Select Action..." dropdown menu for this message. The menu options are: "Select Action...", "Release", "-- Release", "Release and Add to Safelist" (which is highlighted with a blue background and a red arrow), "Spam", and "-- Delete". The message text is partially visible as "the complete text."
